Summary

Hey, I'm Mario!
I am very happy that you have come this far and, since you have,
stay a little longer and come to know a little more about me.

After all, who is Mario as a person?
Mario is a dreamer who is always looking for improvement, both professionally and personally, communicative, intuitive, agile in learning. He has always worked in the world of civil construction, going from servant to General Services Supervisor, with discipline and good interaction with employees.

Who is Mario as a technologist?
Mario is a technologist in the learning process, always curious about how things worked, but always with a certain acceptance that the technology area was not for him, since he started studying Biology and then went to the civil construction area, with COVID , allowed him to start his studies and delve into technology, where he is currently looking for his first job opportunity in the Tech area.

Learning to learn
I have made a commitment to my learning process and I invite you to get to know and closely follow the development of my work:
